< Remarks for the local examination >

1. Before the examination day
   - Refrain from any non-essential and non-urgent outings. Avoid the "Three Cs" (namely, closed spaces with poor ventilation, crowded places with many people nearby, and close-contact settings such as close-range conversations). Prevent infection as much as possible.
   - Maintain good health and record your health condition on the Health Management Checklist everyday, starting from a week before the day of the examination. This checklist is used for self-management purposes and is not required to be submitted. However, you may be asked to show it when entering the campus, so bring it with you on the day of the examination.

2. On the day of the examination
   - Check in advance which gates are open for entering the campus.
   - After entering the campus, come to the Engineering Building 2 immediately.
   - Confirmation of your entry is made both at the gates and at the entrances to the examination rooms (or Engineering Building 2).
     - Fill out and bring the Notification of Campus Entry and show it when entering the gates.
     - At the entrances of each examination room (or Engineering building 2), your temperature is checked with a non-contact thermometer (thermograph, etc.) to confirm that you have no fever of 37.5°C or higher. In addition, you are requested to submit the Declaration Form. When you have a fever of 37.5°C or higher or symptoms (such as severe coughing) that are suspected to be caused by COVID-19 (including when it is clear that the symptoms are caused by a chronic illness other than COVID-19), your examination may be conducted in a separate room.
   - Plain, unmarked masks must be worn at all times on the campus, except when eating or drinking or when instructed by a proctor.
   - When you enter or leave the examination room (or enter Engineering building 2), disinfect your hands with alcohol using the disinfectant put at these entrances or using your own disinfectant.
   - Do not enter any buildings other than Engineering building 2. Do not leave the designated areas inside the building.
● Conversation between examinees is prohibited in the examination room. Refrain from talking, coughing (except momentary coughing), etc., except when it is deemed necessary, such as when you respond to a proctor.

● If you eat in the examination room, you must eat in your seat or other designated places. Regardless of the location, you are expected to take appropriate measures referring to the "new normal" below.

● If you have signs of illness or other symptoms during the examination, the proctor may move you to another room. In that case, please follow instructions.

● The examination room will be ventilated, and windows and doors will be opened as necessary. You should wear clothing so that you are comfortable both at high and low room temperatures.

● Bring your own trash bags. All trash (lunch containers, plastic bottles, tissues, etc.) must be taken home by yourself.

● When using an elevator, keep a distance between users.

● If you do not follow the instructions for infection prevention on the day of the examination, you may not be allowed to take the examination.

● After the examination, follow the instructions of the proctor to leave the room in order to avoid creating clusters of people.

3. After the examination

● If you are infected with COVID-19 within 14 days after the examination, please contact nyushi22@ee.t.u-tokyo.ac.jp immediately.

● If you are infected with COVID-19, your name and contact information may be provided to the public health center in accordance with its instructions.

< Conditions for the online examination >

● If you are living abroad, you may take the examination online. If you can come to Japan, you may take the onsite examination. Indicate your choice at the time of application for the entrance examination.

● If you are infected with COVID-19 and are not designated as cured by a doctor by the day of the examination, you are not allowed to take the onsite examination. In this case, if you want to take the online examination, send an email to nyushi22@ee.t.u-tokyo.ac.jp and wait for instructions.

● If you make close contact with a person determined to have been diagnosed with COVID-19, send an email to nyushi22@ee.t.u-tokyo.ac.jp and wait for instructions.

● If you are currently experiencing following typical COVID-19 symptoms, you will not be allowed to enter the campus. In this case, send an email to nyushi22@ee.t.u-tokyo.ac.jp and wait for instructions. If you have a chronic disease with similar symptoms to those of COVID-19, send an email to nyushi22@ee.t.u-tokyo.ac.jp in advance and wait for instructions.
